ABSTRACT

The curriculum guide provides teaching units and activities to integrate career education concepts into the curriculum for educable mentally handicapped children in grades 7 through 12. Focused on are 16 concepts of career development such as the interrelationship between occupations and life style and between education and work. In addition, 12 persisting life situations such as learning to travel and move about and learning to manage one's money are cross referenced with the career development concepts. Career concepts and life situations are coordinated in chart form with behavioral objectives, topic learning activities (organized by subject areas such as social studies or art), resources (such as records, books, or filmstrips), learning outcomes, and suggested evaluation procedures. Examples of learning activities at the junior high level for the concept of the interrelationship of education and work are listing skills which require training (social studies) and learning to use the telephone properly (language arts). The senior high curriculum is organized by subject areas (such as pre-vocational information, job adjustment, or language arts) and grade level. Appended is supplementary information for students such as self rating forms, and a list of ways to develop an attractive personality. (For a related curriculum guide at the elementary level see EC 052 548). (DB)

ERIC

This publication was developed through Title VI-B of the Education of Handicapped Act, Project No. 20132, under a grant from the United States Office of Education, No. 59149-72, as part of a research and development project in career education, Project No. 01-038-153-212, under a grant from the United States Office of Education, No. 0EG-0-72-0291, conducted under Public Law 90-576.

PREFACE

Career Education is not a new concept or practice in the Eau Claire Area Schools. For many years special education classes, as well as regular school programs, have addressed themselves to many of the basic principles included in this Career Education Curriculum Guide. This guide, however, does represent a new thrust to implement an effective career education program for the special education students in this district. A similar commitment is being made for all Eau Claire Area School District students. Needless to say, this thrust is in harmony with the educational philosophy of this school district.

Dr. Marvin G. Lansing Superintendent of Schools Eau Claire Area School System

FOREWORD

This guide was developed through the combined efforts of the Eau Claire Joint School District's special education department, career education team, and the State of Wisconsin, Department of Public Instruction's Division for Handicapped Children. Its foundations were established on occasion of a career education workshop, summer, 1972, and took final form in a special holiday workshop, December, 1972.

Written by teachers of the mentally retarded, this guide is designed to provide teaching units and activities which will allow for integration of career education concepts into the curriculum presently used for teaching mentally retarded children, kindergarten through grade twelve.

Proposed activities in this guide revolve around the sixteen concepts of career development found in Wisconsin's K-12 Guide for Integrating Career Development Into Local Curriculum and the Twelve Persisting Life Situations found in EMR Curriculum, A Persisting Life Needs Approach. 1.

For convenient reference, each section of this two volume guide lists the sixteen concepts of career development on a separate page, followed by a page which cross references the sixteen career concepts pertinent to that section of the guide with the twelve persisting life situations.

Cognizant of the fact that this is a guide, the authors envision that the suggested activities will be expanded, edited, and/or revised by teachers to meet specific classroom situations and student needs.

^{1.} This juide is an excellent companion publication to the following sources: Wisconsin's K-12 Guide for Integrating Career Development Into Local Curriculum; EMR Curriculum, A Persisting Life Needs Approach, Bulletin No. 058-70; Teachers' Handbook for Implementation of the State Curriculum for Educable Mentally Retarded, Bulletin No. 060-70; and Learning to Earn A Living, Bulletin No. 2484, all available through the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction and/or the Division for Handicapped Children, 126 Langdon Street, Madison, Wisconsin, 53702.

I. Personality Characteristics

What is personality? According to Webster, the word person comes from the Latin word, persona, which means a face mask used by actors on the stage. The mask hid the real person and showed the audience only what he wanted them to see. From this word, persona, comes our words person and personality.

Today we think of personality as being all that we think and feel and say and do - - or the way we act and react to ourselves and other people. When we understand the traits that make up our personality, we can better understand ourselves.

It is no easy job to know ourselves. During adolescent years, we cannot understand why we act the way we do--much less understand the ways people act or react to us. We constantly ask the questions - Do I like the way I am? Do others like me?

Our personality may be considered as a hub of a wagon wheel -the spokes extending from the hub point to factors that shape personality.
These hubs point up the differences among us. We need to be aware of these differences in order to better understand ourselves.

Six Simple Rules for Developing Healthy Personalities

- 1. Become genuinely interested in other people.
- 2. Smile.
- 3. Remember that a man's name is to him the sweetest and most important sound in the English language.
- 4. Be a good listener. Encourage others to talk about themselves.
- 5. Talk in terms of the other man's interests.
- 6. Make the other person feel important -- and do it sincerely.

Several Things to Consider in Making Friends

- 1. Friendliness is the art of showing respect and affection toward others.
- Kindness is an important factor.
- 3. Thoughtfulness is necessary for a good personality. To consider the feelings of others is one secret to success.
- 4. A person should be able to laugh at himself and enjoy life fully. Develop a good sense of humor.
- 5. Practice thinking about the good in others. Don't be a "fuss budget". Inconsiderate remarks often hurt, embarrass, and irritate others.
- 6. Gossip is the root of many personality problems. Idle tattling is a definition of gossiping. It is a serious personality handicap.

A. Ways People Make Adjustments

When you have a problem--when you can't do something you want to do--you can react in one of three different ways.

- 1. You can avoid the problem by running away. This is called the flight reaction. You use the flight reaction in several ways.
 - -- You make alibis or excuses.
 - -- You pretend the problem doesn't exist.
- 2. You can fight the problem. You do this by
 - -- Arguing or getting mad.
 - -- Rebelling against trouble.
- 3. You can compromise.
 - -- Giving in a little bit in order to gain in other ways.
 - -- Adjusting to the situation.
 - -- Making the best of things.

Handouts: What Would You Do If?

- B. Ways People Make Choices
 Everything we do is a matter of choice.
 - -- Turn right or left.
 - -- Drive fast or slowly.
 - -- Work hard or goof off.

These choices set your patterns of behavior and of accomplishment. They greatly influence your life, your success, and your happiness.

- 1. Personal choices
 - -- Friends
 - -- Activities
- 2. Educational choices
 - -- High school
 - -- College or technical training
- 3. Occupational choices
 - -- Working with ideas
 - -- Working with things
 - -- Working with people

Your success will depend upon the goals you set for yourself and your willingness to work toward achieving these goals. People who do not succeed lack WILL.

Will is that elusive spark that makes the difference between success and failure. More popularly, it's called "get up and go".

Language Arts - English One

OVERVIEW

Basically exploratory in nature, the sophomore language arts program is centered around the development of an adequate self concept. Units taught are based on three anthologies entitled Maturity, Personal Code, and Getting Along. The anthologies provide a student with a personal log in which reactions to reading as well as creative written thoughts may be recorded.

Other units taught include How to Study, and The Library and Its Uses. Scope, a weekly literature magazine, is used in developing reading, writing, and vocabulary skills.

(See Career Development Concepts 1, 2, and 7.)

LANGUAGE ARTS 10

The individual reading skill development program is an integral part of concept one, the development of an adequate self-concept.

The program is designed to establish a positive attitude toward reading and extinguish the fears and hesitancy based on previous experiences.

Concept six, education and work are interrelated, recognizes the student's need to achieve to meet future employment requirements.

Wisconsin's special education curriculum uses Persisting Life Situations of which numbers one and two, learning to communicate ideas, and learning to understand oneself and to get along with others, are stressed in the reading skill development program.

NOTE: The "Action Series" is a skill building basic reader unit. The use of this series provides daily reading exercises and review of basic skills and improvement of comprehension.

The purpose of its use is to provide sequential development of reading skill centered around the unit theme of self-concept and interpersonal relations.

Language Arts - English Two

OVERVIEW

The junior year language arts program is directed toward continuing development of basic communication skills. Units are centered around occupational settings and interpersonal relationships.

A student is given the opportunity to use communication skills in his/her daily classwork. Although subject matter areas are the same for all students, materials used are geared to individual ability levels.

Units taught include Starting Work, On The Job, Keeping the Job, Working for the City, and Time Out for Leisure. These units develop the skills of communication and also introduce the student to the world of work.

(See Career Development Concepts 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 12, and 15.)
